Another Reconnoissance—Capture of Important Rebel Correspondence, &c—Pirate Alabama at St Thomas—Semmes Takes Command of a New 18 Gun Pirate—Latest from Europe Death of Wm L Yancey.

NEW YORK, 4th

The Havana correspondent of the Times contains the following

From St. Thomas we hear of the Alabama—The Dacende, a newspaper of that Island, in its issue of the 15th inst, says Captain Semmes and three other officers were yesterday transferred from the Alabama, now lying in this port, to the new frigate mounting 18 guns, called the Georgia, which has just arrived from England

A line of American steamers has been established between Porto Rico and New London

NEW YORK, 4th

There were 10 deaths from sun stroke yesterday in this city. The weather is cooler this morning, with a strong northwest breeze

NEW YORK, 4th

The following is from the Herald's correspondence—

Sperryville, Va, 1st.

The 4th Pa regiment of cavalry was dispatched yesterday morning upon a reconnoissance by Gen. Gregg. At Little Washington, 12 miles from here, they encountered a company of rebel cavalry about 100 strong, and drove them through the town, capturing a private of the 4th Va cavalry, who had been directed by an order from Gen Fitz Hugh Lee to purchase bacon and flour for the brigade, in the vicinity of Waterford, Loudon county

It has been ascertained that a brigade of cavalry was posted between Little Washington and Sperryville

The private captured had in his possession some correspondence indicating that the rebel army is in a very desperate condition and bitterly bewailing the error of the recent raid in Maryland and Pennsylvania, and predicting that if the war should last much longer Lee's army will be starved to death in the mountains

The Herald's Washington despatch says Col Barxer gave orders to day for returning to their owners a large number of slaves that have fled to the estate of Col Wilking in Maryland, which is now under military surveillance

A rebel prisoner of rank was brought to this city some time since and the story went that he was Gen Evans of Balls Bluff fame. La er revelations from the South have it that he committed all sorts of excesses in the neighborhood of Leesburg, and among other things destroyed property to and about several of the finest mansions and grounds in the vicinity. Indeed he is the only general on either side who has indulged in wholesale vandalism

Secessionists here are making themselves happy over the report that Jeff Davis is about to raise a great army of negroes upon the promise of freedom and lands, but large slaveholders in this region express the opinion that he will venture upon no such policy. In fact he dare not trust the slaves

Steamship City of Manchester, from Liverpool June 22d and Queenstown 23d, arrived at 11 a m. News anticipated

In the House of Commons on the 22d Lord Palmerston said the practice of Federal Consuls in requiring bonds that cargoes of vessels are not intended for the Confederates, was a violation of international law. Remonstrances had been made and the Federal Government had promised to stop the proceedings but he feared they had not done so. He hoped fresh remonstrances would prove more effective

London, July 23—The Times in a leader contends that Meade has suffered a decisive repulse, and supports its views as follows

Gen Lee's forces marched from the scene of battle by a road to the left of the Federal position, and the day after the engagement they were unmolested at Emmetsburg, a place so far on his road that they must have been almost in the rear of Meade's army. Thence he has been for ten days moving all his trains, his wounded, his supplies and no doubt an immense mass of booty quietly towards the Potomac, and all accounts seem to agree that he has succeeded in passing them over to Virginia unmolested

It may be intended that his army should follow, but his movements show no sign of confusion, inseparable from a retreat in face of a victorious enemy. His troops are described as steadily preparing for another battle somewhere in the vicinity of the old ground of last year's struggle with McClellan, and we are informed that some of them had yet crossed the river

On the contrary, it is said he has received heavy reinforcements from Beauregard's army

Lee's position is such that his retreat to Virginia, in case of necessity, is secured, unless he federals can detach sufficient force to operate on his communication south of the Potomac.—His communications, at a short distance from the river, are at Williamsport, the point at which he crossed, and where his wounded and supplies have been passing over during the last few days

In the battle which appears to be impending, Gen Meade is attacking a position which is larger than his own had selected at his own pleasure and the result of the struggle must be extremely critical. It may end like so many others, in a drawn battle, but defeat to either army might be dangerous if not ruinous.

As to the question of peace, the Times says that if the north can only obtain recruits at the seasons much it is time indeed, to discuss peace in the colonies.

WASHINGTON, 4th

The U S bark Restless recently captured on the Florida coast a schooner of Nassau and a sloop without a name. Both were loaded with cotton. They were attempting to run the blockade.

Acting Master John A Ormand has been dismissed from the navy

Applicants for appointments as Acting Assistant surgeons in the navy must be under thirty years of age, instead of over 30 as incorrectly printed a few days ago

BALTIMORE, 4th.

The Richmond Whig of July 31s has the following:

Montgomery, Ala., July 29th

The funeral services of the late Wm L Yancey took place from the Presbyterian church this afternoon

The Richmond Whig of August 1st says John B Floyd is lying very ill at the residence of his mother, and is not expected to live

It is funny to hear copperheads declaring that Jeff Davis will fill his army again by conscription, while in the next breath they declare that conscription must fall in the North.

SAD SCENES IN TENNESSEE. A correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, writing from Tullahoma, Tenn., July 16, says

There is not a family between Tullahoma and Winchester, near the road, that is not totally destitute of provisions. Land under cultivation by both armies, the people have been left scarcely a single pound of provender, and the day I passed in return I found barefooted women, gray headed men and ragged children plodding forward to Winchester after something to eat.

I was accosted by an old gentleman, as I passed a neat little log-cabin at the foot of the hills, where the road entered a small valley traversed by a clear stream of mountain water, and asked whether he could find work enough at the North to support his family

I asked him his sentiments. He replied that, at both elections in Tennessee, he voted against secession, that, since then he had contributed nothing voluntarily to the rebel cause, but that both armies had levied on his stock of provender, until his family were left destitute. He had nothing left but a crop of growing corn, and that night, before the winter setting in, be gathered by the army foraging parties. The case was a pitiable one, but there were hundreds of others scarcely so. The truth of the matter is, that the coming winter will witness sufferings from hunger equalled only by those of the Irish in the rebellion of '98. Food enough cannot be found in this country to subsist the people during the coming winter

A splendid residence on the left, as we entered the place, was discovered dismantled and disordered. The most elegant furniture, carpets, pictures and books were strewn about the yard, broken and torn and soiled. Guards were sent forward to protect the town and private property. Gen Jeff C. Davis approved the course, and issued the most stringent orders against similar excesses.

HOW A REBEL GENERAL'S SLAVE HELPED US TO FIFTEEN HUNDRED PRISONERS. The Frederick (Md.) Citizen—a Democratic paper—says that on the 6th inst, during the movements in Maryland and Pennsylvania, an intelligent negro man, who it is reported belongs to the rebel General Stuart, was discovered in that vicinity and imparted information to our commander concerning the number and location of a body of rebel troops on South Mountain, which led to the capture of fifteen hundred of the enemy with a large number of horses, wagons and ambulances. It would be a generous reward, were this slave within our lines, to return him, as certain people propose to obtain and infamy

FREEDOM NOT DESIRABLE. That astute copperhead sheet, the Boston Courier, declares the freedom should not be desired by the negro—Read its sagacious remark

"As no white man ought to consent to be a slave, so, in our opinion no negro ought to desire to be a free man in the United States

To this talk, the Nashville Union, Union this sarcastically replies

"Certainly not. It is the height of presumption in a negro to wish to be free. The wish itself is wicked, it is abominably sinful, it is atrociously culpable, and deserves the greatest punishment imaginable! The fact that a man with a flat nose and black skin should desire to own himself or children evinces the extraordinary depravity of the African race. It shows that he is ignorant of his best interests. If he would only mind his business he would soon fetch $15,000 on the block. The wickedness of desiring freedom in a land of freedom, will strike everybody as being peculiarly simple. Every one can see that as plainly as he can see that the editor of the Boston Courier is an ass

A correspondent at Memphis says "The ladies of this city begin to see a little beauty in the old flag and the beauty will be increased. They now tell you that they have never had any positive dislike to the flag under which their forefathers fought, but the men who carry the flag about the streets now are Yankee, and they hate a Yankee from Pennsylvania. A Massachusetts soldier, some of them will tell you, is a good enough fellow. They are like a man who despised a fiddler, but was passionately fond of a fiddle"

SERVED HIM RIGHT. A good story is told of a wealthy copperhead in the interior of Ohio, upon whom Morgan during his raid, quartered himself one night. In the morning his host, who had expressed very friendly feelings—making a virtue of necessity—presented Morgan with four of the eight horses of which he was the owner and asked his advice as to how he should save the remaining one. Morgan told him that his rear guard would be along in about two hours, and if he wished to keep his property he must then cheer for the southern rulers. At the appointed time the troops of Gen Hobson, the Union leader, (who Morgan knew was following him) came along, and Mr Butternut began to cheer lustily for Vallandigham and Jeff Davis. Hobson could not see it in that light, but took the old man along as a prisoner and confiscated the balance of his horses for the benefit of Uncle Sam

FIRE Yesterday afternoon fire was discovered in a barn on Kenduskeag Avenue, owned by Timothy Dwyer, and before the flames could be extinguished the barn was consumed, together with the double tenement house owned by Dwyer and John Sullivan, 1st, and occupied by them and John Sullivan, 2d. A house owned by Benj Weed, and occupied by him as a residence and moccasin manufactory was also burned, together with the outbuildings. Mr Weed had a thousand pairs of moccasins stored in the house, principally raw. He was insured. Loss about $1600. The other buildings not insured. Loss about $1000. Cause of the fire—children playing with matches in the barn. Firemen, fines for non-attendance, complain that the alarm bells were not rung

FROM BAHIA. The barque Daniel Webster, Capt. Bennett, arrived here yesterday, bringing advices from Bahia to July 4th. The rebel steamer Georgia and Alabama sailed from Bahia May 24. The U S steamer Mohican arrived on the 24th, and sailed 30th in pursuit of the pirates. The Mohican had one man killed and another wounded by the premature explosion of a gun while firing a salute at Bahia.—The U S ship Onward also sailed from Bahia about May 28, on a cruise. The Daniel Webster brings home a number of seamen recently belonging to the ships Sea Lark, Dorcas Prince, and bark Union Jack, which vessels were destroyed by the pirates.—Boston Journal

What a "Democratic" Victory Means.

The questions now at issue in the political campaign are vastly more momentous than in the ordinary contest of peaceful years. They are not simply whether the Republican or Democratic party shall administer the Government—whether lax or the scheme of financial or protectionist policy shall prevail—nor even whether we shall put a stop to the extension of slavery. The issues of the present day transcend all these. They involve the question whether the Government itself shall be maintained—whether we shall any longer be an individual and free Republican country of equal rights to live in, and whether our children shall receive from us undiminished that glorious heritage of a free country and free institutions which we received from our fathers. This is the great question to be decided by the Northern electors of the president year—for if the administration be not sustained in its war measures—if the "peace democracy" is allowed to carry the elections generally in the great Free States—we know full well that a speedy acknowledgment of the slaveholders' Confederacy, and a dismemberment and destruction of our beloved country will in due course follow. Nothing is more clear than this. A few of the democratic leaders declare for a continuation of the war if the rebels refuse to come back into the Union with slavery preserved and guaranteed—but the men who have obtained the management and control of the party are universally in favor of an unconditional surrender to the rebels. They were in party affiliation with the rebel leaders before the war, and are now in full sympathy, if not absolute communication, with them. They were opposed to the "unlawful war" in 1861 our Government undertook to maintain itself against the most monstrous and wicked rebellion that the world ever saw—and they are now for "peace-at-any-price" with the same atrocious rebels, and a yielding up of everything which a free American holds dear. These are the men, we say, who now control the democratic party, and who now control the democratic party, and who will shape and define its policy if successful at the polls. The question for every freeman, therefore, is whether he shall vote to maintain or to destroy the American Republic. It comes to just that. If the voter in Maine refuses to cast his ballot for the Union candidate, SAMUEL CONY, or throws it for the man nominated this week by the "democratic" Convention in Portland, he gives just that amount of aid to the cause of the rebellion, and does just so much towards destroying his country and overthrowing free institutions in the world. No matter what may be the pious professions of the Portland nominee. He may be a man whom the secession sympathizers and radical peace men of the State will support. He must be a man satisfactory to Marcellus Emery, to Gorham L. Boynton, to Moses McDonald, and the other leaders of that class, who are daily setting forth the horrors of war, and clamoring for peace at any price. Both sides to the candidates—whether he be Rice Brothers, Marcellus himself, or any other man. The issue will be well defined—vote for the Union candidate on the platform of sustaining the Government, prosecuting the war, and saving the country—or a vote for the secession candidate on the platform of a recognition of the Confederacy and the destruction of the Republic. Which side will the loyal men take? Which side will that man take who has a personal or property stake in the continuance of our great nation with a government strong enough to protect its citizens against a traitorous rebellion? Be sure votes the democratic ticket will be left with a heaping up of this great and powerful Republic, as surely as the Republic may exist.

To be inflicted of the disloyal intimidation of the democratic leaders, we need only to read the democratic papers and listen to democratic speeches. They are rapidly tending in one direction—the "abandonment of a further prosecution of the war," and the necessity of submitting to a dissolution of the Union. Connected with the loss of their orators and presses, we have plain a determined opposition to every effort of the Government to recruit its armies and prosecute the war. The draft is resisted in every possible shape—and there is evidence that in the great State of New York (whose administration was, by a "democratic victory" in the teeth of New York city last fall, temporarily thrown into the hands of a secession sympathizer) there is an intention of absolutely using the State militia against the Government to resist the execution of the conscription act. Upon this point we ask the attention of the reader to the following statement, and then submit to him the question whether he will vote to place the military force of Maine also under such democratic control.

Startling Developments.

From the Buffalo Express.

The commissioned officers of the 65th regiment N. G. S. N. Y., residing in the Second Assembly district of Niagara county, have published an address to the citizens of that district, which contains a statement of facts calculated to startle, not only the community to whom it is addressed, but the loyal people of the entire State.

On receiving the general order issued by the Adjutant General of the State on the 19th of June, ordering the organization of a regiment of the New York National Guard in each Assembly district, the officers of the sixty-sixth appointed a meeting to be held at Wilson, for the purpose of taking the proper steps in execution of the order. Their district contained four fully organized companies of the 66th, but the Colonel of that existing regiment resided elsewhere. In such case, according to the terms of the order, a Colonel for the new district organization was to be appointed; and these officers expected, as a matter of course, to be consulted in the selection of the same. Before their meeting was held, however, they received information that one William McCrea, of Cambria, a man unknown to them, without military experience, and previously unconnected with the militia, had been appointed Colonel.

Necessarily the appointment was unsatisfactory. They met and found themselves unanimously desirous of assuring the disappointed of Colonel George L. Mootie of Porter. Their feelings were communicated to Mr. McCrea, and he expressed himself favorably disposed to an accommodation of the matter, which should place Colonel Mootie at the head of the regiment, himself taking a lower commission. A meeting was appointed to arrange this settlement, when suddenly Mr. McCrea's disposition underwent a change, he repudiated his own propositions, refused to attend any conference, and declared by resolution to proceed in the exercise of the power conferred upon him by the Governor.

And now comes the startling development to which these difficulties led. In conversation with some of the officers, Mr McCrea gave an explanation of his conduct, and this explanation is reported in their address, as below. It is the statement of Captain Seableson, and in introducing it the officers say:

"This statement was reduced to writing very soon after the conversation, and Lieutenant Pettit declares that Mr McCrea told him the same in substance—in fact, nearly word for word." Those who know these gentlemen, place implicit reliance in the truth of this statement, to which they are ready at any time to testify, which is as follows:

"I saw Colonel McCrea, July 7, 1863. He said to me about noon, 'I did not want the office of Colonel in this district; but as it was pressed on me by men that I know to be right for our Governor I accepted. I will say to you, but confidentially, the object of this is to get this militia force into our hands—have proper men appointed—and, if the governor wishes to resist the national draft, which he intends to do, as he thinks it an unconstitutional, he can do so safely, for the men will have proper men in office over the National Guard, so as to comply to his wish, resist the draft, and the people cannot help themselves as they will have no military that they can control to the point.

I have this from headquarters from gentlemen that saw the governor on this subject. It is not only my own view of this matter, but the governor's and our party's.'"

The gentlemen who bring this statement to alarming note before the public are eleven in number, and by name as follows:

Captain, James M. Newman, Captain H Eschbaugh, Captain J W Eggleston, Captain S V Speakman, Lieutenant Wm O Pettit, Lieutenant Alva Wilson, Lieutenant J Vincent, Lieutenant Jutwater, Lieutenant S Miller, Lieutenant Wm Pool, Quartermaster J M McCheaney.

But this does not stand unsupported. There has been more than one proceeding in connection with Governor Seymour's sudden undertaking to reorganize the state militia, of a strange and suspicious character. Who could find, for instance, a loyal explanation of the appointment of John A Green, of Syracuse—the notorious opponent of the war and sympathizer with the rebellion—to a brigadier-generalship? and why do we hear intimated from all directions that the major appointments have been made of the same outrageous character?

A sailor who helped a Rhode Island substitute to escape jail, before the tug left the wharf in Boston for Long Island, was taken to General Dix's house held to answer for the sub. whom he had assisted to skedaddle.

The price of substitutes in Philadelphia ranges from $50 to $100. In one case the Philadelphia Press says as high as $250 has been paid but men are offering themselves freely at the lower rates.

SECOND CLASS DRAFT. The New York Herald's Washington correspondent says it is rumored in high places, though no orders have been promulgated to that effect, that if the draft of the first class under the recent enrolment is considered insufficient, a draft will be made without delay upon the second class.

THE DANGER OF CHARLESTON. The Wilmington Journal says that the presence of the Union troops on Morris Island is owing to the refusal of the Charlestonians to furnish Beauregard with hand, to leve the hills on the island, behind which our troops sheltered themselves on landing, and to build more batteries at the lower part of the island. They excused themselves, saying that the raising of crops was equally a patriotic duty. The Journal says that a similar difficulty exists at Wilmington, that Wilming not being able to secure men enough to construct proper defences, and calls it "traitorous dogmatism," which urges those who have laboring men to spare, to refuse them. It also earnestly points to the great danger, not only to the healthy but to the Confederacy, from this refusal.

THE DRAFT. The whole number of conscripts examined at New Bedford thus far is 816, of whom 291 have passed.

DROWNED. A despatch was received in this city last night, from Captain Gilman of Company B, 22d Maine regiment, (dated Chester, Mass) stating that Harrison C. Young, his company, fell overboard and was drowned while coming up the Mississippi. Mr Young leaves a wife and one child in this city.

RESERVOIRS. Two reservoirs have been rebuilt this summer. One at the foot of Adams Street, of brick, capable of containing 28,000 gallons, the other near the residence of S. T. Fox, Esq., on French Street, of the same material and capacity.

A GOOD STORY is told of Dr. Wilbur, a member of the Board of Enrollment in the Third District. A drafted man presented himself for examination who was so deaf that it required the utmost power of the Doctor's lungs to make him hear. The Doctor stooped down and commenced a critical examination of one of the drafted man's knees, remarking, in a low tone, "that is sufficient to exempt any man." "Glad to hear you say so," said the deaf man who had suddenly recovered his hearing. "What did you say was the trouble with my knee, Dr. Wilbur?"

"It is perfectly sound and good," replied the Doctor, "I was only examining your ears."

The man paid his $300 and was exempted.

EXAMINATION OF DRAFTED MEN. On Saturday, at Lewiston, 72 drafted men were examined 20 accepted, 36 claim paid the disability, 7 for causes under the age, 3 paid their commutation, and 6 provided substitutes.

☞ The substitutes who deserted from Camp Lincoln last week and were subsequently arrested, were taken to Augusta Saturday, where they will be tried before a Court Martial.

☞ A correspondent desires us to state that Rev. Mr. Merrill of Portland did not leave St. John until he had paid his boarding every dollar for which they were liable.

The Bangor Whig is severely exercised in mind on account of the expected visitors from the West, to the "natural seaport." Let our down-east friend attend to his little hand-box city, and not trouble himself about metropolitan affairs.—Portland Press.

Since our Portland neighbors have had a Grand Trunk, they speak scornfully of a hand-box city! Don't, despise the day of small things. Portland is not yet the equal of New York, except in cement and brass.

THE FIRST MAINE CAVALRY. An army correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer speaks in terms of high praise of the gallantry of the 1st Maine Cavalry regiment at Hallstown, on the 15th ult. The regiment, numbering only 250 men, on this occasion drove back an entire rebel brigade over a mile, compelled them to open with artillery, and was gradually driving that when they received an order to return, the object of their advance having been accomplished.—The next day, at Shepherdstown, they again drove rebels some distance, and subsequently, in conjunction with a Pennsylvania regiment, repulsed six charges by a much larger rebel force. Later, when the whole federal force became engaged, they fought with great bravery, and helped gain a decided victory over Stuart's cavalry, which greatly outnumbered their force. Of the regiment's record, the writer remarks:

"The 1st Maine has a grand record, and has always distinguished itself, particularly at Beverly Ford, where it rescued a battery which had been lost, at Aldie, where they lost their Colonel and a Lieutenant, at Middleburg, where assisted by the 5th Pennsylvania, they made one of the most brilliant charges of the war, losing five commissioned officers killed and a number wounded, and at Upperville, where they routed the enemy and captured a gun in the same spot where ——'s old and pet regiment had been repulsed not five minutes before."

BOARD OF ENROLLMENT. Seventy-six cases were acted upon at Portland Monday. Thirty-eight were exempted for physical disability, four for being only sons of widows, four for being in service March 3d, four for alienage, three for being over age, three for being fathers of motherless children, and one for non-residence—Eight were furnished substitutes.

ACCIDENT. An Lieut. Joseph A. Godfrey was leaving the U S Hotel to walk to the Kennebec Depot, last evening, on his way to Augusta, by some means he got caught in his trapping and was accidentally discharged. The ball entered his leg a few inches above the knee, passing downward, inflicting a severe flesh wound. The ball had not been found or extracted at 11 o'clock last evening.—Portland Argus.

DROWNED. Mr. Edward B. Furbush of Brunswick, son of Benjamin Furbush, Esq., was drowned near the bridge of the Androscoggin Railroad, Sunday morning. His age was 22 years.—Both Times.

In a recent fight at Aldie, Va., A C Emery, company H, S A Holden, company D, and A N Warren, company N, all of the 1st Maine Cavalry, were wounded.

SUDDEN DEATH. William O. Lawrence, son of William Lawrence, was found dead in his bed, Monday morning, about 8 o'clock. A Potter, Esq. Coroner, was called, and from examination it was apparent that the young man had died from heart disease, during the early part of the night.—Both Times.

THE SIEGE OF VICKSBURG. An army letter says that our rifle bullets that were fired over the tops of the rebel works at Vicksburg killed and wounded a very large number of their soldiers while lying in their camps, a half or three-fourths of a mile in the rear of the works, as well as many people in the streets of Vicksburg. They were dreaded more than our shell or solid shot, because they could not be avoided, and the garrison and citizens affirm, that they caused more wounded and loss of life. The correspondent of the New York Herald says he saw a young lady's piano that had three bullet holes through it that came into the house through the doors, and windows, a distance of over a mile, and the young lady herself was wounded. Two other young ladies were wounded by bullets. The caves dug by the citizens sometimes destroyed instead of saving life, by falling in and burying the inmates, having been struck by our 10-inch mortar shells. Several such cases are reported. The soil in which these caves were dug is a kind of loam, dry clay, cute like chalk, and can be fortified into any shape without crumbling, unless severely jarred. These holes and ditches abound everywhere among the camps and all through the city. There is scarcely a building in the town that does not bear the marks of shot or shell.

T H Underwood, the poet, lately from New York, died yesterday of consumption.

Additional advices from Japan, up to June 24th, state that although the Japanese had paid upwards of 400,000 indemnity for the murder of Richardson, France and England still demanded as redress, the surrender of the murderers, and also indemnity for the losses of their merchants, consequent on their expulsion from Nagasaki, and for the losses of the merchants of Yokahama in re-shipping imports, and atonement for the Gotohama fire. Should Japan not accede to these demands civil war would ensue. The question seemed to be whether the Japanese had better have war with the foreigners, or with one another.

FORTRESS ONROE, 4th.

The Norfolk Virginian contains the following

Savill's Hill, Aug. 3d.

News has been received here of the cavalry expedition under Colonel Spear. The cavalry and artillery crossed the Chowan river at Winton, N C, and proceeded to Jackson, 12 miles from Weldon, near the Roanoke river, where the enemy were discovered in strong force. On advance made a splendid charge on the rebel advance, and drove them back, capturing 70 prisoners. Our loss was two killed and three wounded. We captured 60 bales of cotton and 100 horses.

It has rained incessantly since the expedition started, rendering the roads nearly impassable.

The men have suffered great hardships. Had the weather been fair, much more would have been accomplished.

The return of Colonel Spear and his command is hourly expected.

The Richmond Enquirer of the 3d says a force of Yankee cavalry has appeared at Stafford's Store, Staffords county, 16 miles from Fredericksburg.

Gen Neal Dow will proceed on a trip to Mobile this morning, escorted by two officers of the Confederate police. We are not informed of the purpose of sending him to Mobile.

LEAVENWORTH, 4th.

Steamer Robert Campbell has arrived from the mountains, where she has been with supplies. Her passengers report that the Sioux are very desperate and threatening.

The Campbell grounded near the mouth of Yellow Stone River, and the Indians on the bank made signals of friendship. The Captain sent a boat with six men ashore, when just as they were landing the Indians fired on them, killing three and wounding one.

The crew of the Campbell returned the fire, the effect of which was unknown.

The steamer being left alone was boarded and robbed by the Indians.

The steamer Belle of Peoria is aground, and it is feared the Indians would burn her, as the river was full of canoes.

The government has taken possession of the Nellie Rogers and Shreveport to transport supplies.

The steamer Sam Gaty is at Fort Randall loaded with supplies, but can not neither get up or down.

It is thought the expedition against the Indians this season, will prove a failure on account of low water.

BATTLE OF WAPPING HEIGHTS. A correspondent of the New York Herald, in an account of the fight at Wapping Heights, in Manassas Gap, thus speaks of a most gallant charge made by the 3d and 4th Maine regiments:

Gen Ward then detached two regiments from his skirmish line—the Third and Fourth Maine, veterans of Kearney's old division—and directed them to clear a very steep hill by assault. Our sharpshooters held the attention of the enemy while the Maine men crept silently and all unobserved up the face of the hill. On gaining the summit they sprung to their feet, delivered a volley, and with a most determined charge cleared the hill, gaining a number of prisoners and spreading the ground with killed and wounded rebels.

The charge was a right gallant one, such as soldiers may feel proud of having participated in, and will ever be a bright credit mark for these fine regiments."

The following are among the wounded in the affair: C Poland, Co. G, 3d Me., leg; Sergeant John P Dodge, I, 3d, [illegible]; Horace Speed, A, 4th, ankle; Sergt. Major Bosworth of the 17th, was wounded severely in the lip by a shell in this fight.

The rebels calculate upon obtaining 70,000 men through the conscription lately decreed by the Richmond government. Such a number sounds large, but it would be a mere drop in the bucket, considering the scale on which American armies are now formed. We ought to be able to match it with colored troops alone, and shall do so if the people will but heartily support government in its laudable endeavors to raise troops of that description. Our conscription, after making allowances for failure fully to enforce the act in certain quarters, will yield 200,000 men. A large force could be obtained in the North by having recourse to the service of men for short terms of service, say nine months and twelve months. We know that there is a prejudice against the short term men, but all prejudices that stand in the way of the accomplishment of the federal purpose must be conquered, in order that we may conquer the enemy. If we cannot have three-years' men, why should we refuse the aid of other men? Some of the best things of the war have been done by men who volunteered for nine months only. Such men besieged and took Port Hudson. Why should not more of them do as good things elsewhere?

CAPT. SAWYER'S WIFE AND THE REBELS. The Richmond Examiner of July 25th, says:

"Mrs Sawyer, wife of Captain Henry W Sawyer, of New Jersey, one of the prisoners held for retaliatory execution, on arriving at City Point on the flag of truce boat, made application to the Confederate authorities to be permitted to visit Richmond for the purpose of having an interview with her husband before his execution; but the authorities denied her permission, and she returned on the same boat. Courtesies of this kind have been so invariably denied residents of the Confederacy, desiring to visit the North to look after friends and property, that the government was influenced to the degree of denying the courtesy in this instance, as it will in all others of a like nature that may arise. When the Yankees conduct themselves like Christians in their intercourse with us, they may expect a like return; but we cannot afford to treat gratuitously our enemies, who disregard themselves every principle of right and justice.

The rebels gave Captain Sawyer permission to send for his wife when his name was drawn for execution, and the subsequent refusal to admit her within their lines is a striking commentary upon their boasted honor.

DEATH OF GEN. STRONG. Brigadier General George C Strong, who returned to this city last week from Morris Island, where he was badly wounded in the assault on Fort Wagner, died at 8 o'clock this morning, at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. W m Rudd, in this city.

General Strong was born in Stockbridge, Vermont. His father died when he was but eight years of age, and he was adopted in the family of his uncle, A S Strong, of Easthampton, Mass., under whose care he received his preliminary education for military life. He entered West Point Academy in the class of 1857, and held the post of first captain of cadets for three years during the course. After he was graduated he had charge of the Bridesburg arsenal, was thence transferred to Fortress Monroe, and thence to Mount Vernon, Alabama.

After the defection of Major Mordecai he had charge of the Watervliet arsenal for a short time; soon on the breaking out of the rebellion he applied for active service, was on the staff of Gen. McDowell at the battle of Bull Run, and was complimented for his efficiency in that battle by his general. He was next appointed upon the staff of General McClellan, but immediately after was detailed as ordnance officer to General Butler for the Department of the East, and afterwards accompanied Butler to the Department of the Gulf. He distinguished himself at Biloxi and in the perilous adventure up the Tangipaho river.

General Strong was but 31 years of age at the time of his death. His career was brilliant, and promised a still more brilliant future. He was brave, skillful in his profession, a thorough soldier, and a true gentleman in all the relations of life. At the assault on Fort Wagner he commanded the assaulting column, and led it with distinguished bravery and skill. If he had been supported his noble column would have captured the fort.—N. Y. Evening Post.

THE COTTON SUPPLY. The uncertainty which has so long hung over the probabilities of our supply of cotton, and which has rendered that article one of the most unsafe to speculate in or prophesy about, still continues with little diminution. Nevertheless, our readers may be glad to learn a few facts connected with its present position and prospects, as compared with those of last year. In the first place, the stock is slightly reduced. The entire quantity in the kingdom is about 885,000 bales, against 420,000 on the 1st of June, 1862. The diminution in American kinds alone is 57,000 bales. The entire stock of this cotton has sunk to 45,000 bales. As far as the aggregate supply is concerned, we see little reason to alter the estimate we published in last November.

Small quantities continue to arrive from the United States in spite of the strict blockade.—We have in the course of the last five months received 27,000 bags, against 21,000 last year. The receipts from other quarters have, as we anticipated, completely ceased: Egypt, and China, Africa and the West Indies, whose contribution used to be immaterial, are now beginning to make a substantial figure in the returns and the supply from Egypt continues to be unusually liberal. The high prices which have so long prevailed have begun to tell upon the Indian supply; but unfortunately, a failure of the crop in several portions of our eastern empire has had a strong counteracting influence, and the quantity of Surat now at sea, on its way hither, is smaller than in 1862.

—English paper.

Garibaldi is fast failing, and it is believed that he will never again take an active part in affairs. He has had considerable [illegible] with Victor Emanuel.

Cotton buying has become a great business in the vicinity of Mobile, showing that the enemy there expect a visit from our arming.

FROM CHARLESTON. The latest accounts from Charleston by mail are to the 31st inst. The rebels had built several batteries on James Island and were annoying our men in the trenches, but not seriously. Wagner was also sending "junkshops," as they are called, among our men—the guns from thence firing broken bottles, glassware, crockery, nails and fragments of cooking utensils. The rebels closed up the embrasures on the southern face of Fort Wagner for three days, and remained silent until the 30th ult., at daylight, when they cleared them, and developed the fact that they had five guns in position, two of them being new ones, from which they opened a hot fire on our working parties, doing considerable damage to our men.

The enrolment in Wisconsin is nearly completed. Less than 400 soldiers, properly distributed, have repressed violence and protected the enrolling officers in all districts where resistance was attempted or threatened.

The Chicago Workingmen's Association, composed of Germans, has passed emphatic resolutions declaring that they will help crush any mob which may attempt to prevent the execution of the conscription law. The Association numbers over 1000 men.

An order for thirty stoves, to be sent by the first boat, was received at St Louis from New Orleans the other day, and is regarded by the local press as one of the symptoms of the reopening of the vast trade formerly carried on between that city and New Orleans.

Southern journals say they expect to see all the Confederacy's exports taken. Northern journals have the same expectations. Thus there is union with the disunionists. These ports taken, the South would be without communication with its foreign friends.

The English do not like our navy's plan of sinking blockade runners. It shocks the humanitarians of humanity, though it is not a harsher thing than they have often done in war. The measure is one that can be done if you have power to back you, but its propriety in the weak is often open to doubts. Practically speaking, the strong are never wrong.

Judge Brien was arrested by the military guard at Nashville, Tenn., the other day, for forcibly seizing and carrying home a female slave who had run away. He was dismissed by the provost marshal, with the remark that the time had passed when negroes could be whipped in this country.

There is a tendency of specie to Europe, partly owing to the fear created by the riots, but more because of the extravagance of our people, who live as if there was no such thing as self-denial in the world,—and there is indeed very little of it.

Mackay, the lying rascal who writes for the London Times from New York, came near breaking his neck, the other day, while going on board a steamship. His neck is reserved to be broken after another fashion, so that the scoundrel's exit from life may be in keeping with his life.

The rebels intimate that Lee invaded the North in consequence of a call to do so from the copperheads. No doubt they are right.

A party of seventy-two refugees from Richmond reached Baltimore on Wednesday. Similar parties are almost constantly arriving at Washington.

A correspondent in Norfolk writes: "Slavery is dead in this part of Virginia—even if peace should be established to-morrow and Fernando Wood dictate the terms. Yankee immigration has already set in, and merchants from New York, Philadelphia and Boston transact nearly all the business in Norfolk and Portsmouth."

GUY R. PHELPS, Secretary.

Hartford, February 1st, 1863.

The losses during the year past (as was anticipated,) have been unusually large, amounting to three hundred and sixty-three thousand four hundred and eighty dollars, on one hundred and forty-four lives. Though the mortality is greater than last year, it does not exceed the ratio of the table upon which the premiums are predicated, and as in last year's business, the interest on the investment exceeds the losses.

Of the war risks, seven have been slain in the field, or subsequently died of their wounds, and seven have died of sickness in camp, or later being disabled; but the extra war premiums have exceeded the losses by such policies.

Of the insured who have died during the year, 18 has paid but one premium, 17 two, 12 three, 7 four, 5 five, 4 six, 5 eight, 7 nine, 9 eleven, 16 twelve, 22 thirteen, 15 fourteen, and 15 fifteen premiums each.

Three millions ninety-three thousand four hundred and ninety-one dollars have been paid to the families and creditors of the insured, since the organization of the Company; and over two millions and one hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars have been returned to policy holders in dividends. Two hundred and eighty-thousand, six hundred and eighty-eight dollars have been paid in dividends during the year past. These disbursements for dividends will indicate what the accumulations would have been now, had the Company, like some others, paid no dividends except upon the death of the insured.

This Company, organized in 1846, on a system entirely mutual, furnishes insurances in all the various forms, and to meet all the various contingencies for which Life Insurance is desired, at the lowest cost to the policy-holders.

There is no Stock or Guaranty Fund to absorb the profits, but all the surplus is annually credited to to the policy-holders as dividends in proportion to the amount of the premium they pay, and may be appropriated to the payment of renewal premiums, after the first four years. This is the only Company in the United States which allows a dividend upon a cash payment of premium.

The Directors have ordered the dividend of 1863 to be paid during the current year, so that renewals becomes due and are paid—by reduction of the premium of those who have paid all cash, or cancelling the notes of those who have given notes for one-half.

The credit or note system as adopted by this Company, is liable to be misunderstood, being often misrepresented by persons acting for, or interested in Companies requiring all cash payments. It is frequently represented that in a series of years there will accumulate a large amount of premium notes on a date against the policy to be finally over to have in payment of the policy or in lieu of money. Prejudice or inexplicable ignorance only could suggest such an illustration as applicable to this Company, as the annual payment of dividends adopted by this Company, applies in payment of the notes annually given for premiums; consequently the accumulation can never exceed four notes, and to provide for them there will be a corresponding number of dividends. The assured, however, are not required to give a note, but can, if they prefer, pay all in cash, in which case the dividends will be applied as a reduction of their premiums, which, if the previous success of the Company is continued, will reduce the annual payments to nearly or quite one-half, after the fourth payment, the Report of the Massachusetts Commissioner, for 1861, for a complete vindication of the advantages to the insured, and the security to the Company, of the note or half-credit system of Life Insurance.

POOR RICHARD'S EYE AND EAR WATER.

This is the Best Preparation in the World!

READER, are you aware that every time you think, speak or act, you draw on your eyes for strength to do so? Now you are debtor to them, and if they have got exhausted your body and shut it up in the prison of disease, remember they most assuredly will if you do not satisfy their claim (which is a small one) for all the services they render to you continually. They are trying to you for help every blind speak in a voice. Hear their cry, and save yourself by giving them. Give them a drink of POOR RICHARD'S EYE WATER, Morning and Night. This is all they ask and they will positively keep your body out of the prison house of disease. They do not want to lose time in explanations. Try them and prove them. By faithful performance, Deafness can be cured and prevented — Baths both eyes and ears.

A Remarkable Cure in Bangor.

L. W. H. PRITCHARD, do certify that my wife Esther S. has had Weak Eyes from childhood, caused by measles. One year since a lump appeared on the lash of her eye. It increased to the size of a large pea. Becoming somewhat alarmed about the progress it was making I took my wife Mrs. M. to BROWN, at the Exchange. She told me she could remove it, and further strengthen her eyes. Mrs. S. applied her medicine at seven o'clk in the evening, and at nine o'clock the lump was gone. We could see no more of it. My wife can now see people walking on the other side of the street, which she could never do before. She has always had headache when riding in a carriage. Yesterday, when riding in a carriage, she had no return of headache. My own eyes were treated two or three times by Mrs. Brown. I find them much strengthened. W. H. PRITCHARD

American & Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the act of 1837)
78 State Street, opposite Kirby Street,
BOSTON.

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continued to secure Patents in the United States, also, in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers of Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Research is made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The agency is not only the largest in New England, but through its immense advantages for securing Patents, of ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is more successful at the Patent Office than the subscriber, and as success is the best proof of adequate ability, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate. The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

REUBEN DIMMICK, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all of some of which patents have been granted, and that is saying something. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to prosecute their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."

JOHN TAGGART

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twelve rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor by the Commissioner of Patents. R. H. EDDY

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is compounded from the medicinal roots that medical science has proved to be the most powerful and reliable purifiers of the blood. Numerous reports of remarkable cures have been published in our almanac, including the following, which we furnish gratis to our customers and dealers. We have cured with it many of the most severe and obstinate cases of disease that have ever been known to us, such as Scrofula in all its forms, Salt Rheum, Ulcers, Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Scald Head, Ringworm, Erysipelas, Rose or St. Anthony's Fire, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Coughs, Consumption, tuberculous deposits in the lungs, Weak Swellings, Debility, Dropsy, Nervous Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Syphilis, Syphilitic Infections, Mercurial Diseases, Female Weaknesses and Irregularities, and other complaints arising from impurities of the blood. Minute reports of cases can be found in Ayer's Almanac, which furnishes also the directions for their treatment. In the remarkable cures which it records, when all other remedies failed, Ayer's Sarsaparilla has proved its superiority over all other blood purifiers. We have cures to prove it from all sections of the country, so that every reader may have ample evidence that it is the best blood purifier in use. We can speak to our own personal experience. Scrofula is a disease which, in its various forms, is the most obstinate and troublesome to cure, and the most difficult to cure thoroughly. It requires a long course of treatment, and the patient must be kept free from cold and other causes of disease, or the disease will return. We have cured many such cases, which we had every reason to believe would be permanently cured. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a concentrated extract, and is the most economical blood purifier we can make. Its virtues have been proved by long trial, and there remains no doubt of its surpassing excellence for the cure of blood diseases. It is the best we can do for the sick, although we do not claim for it the wonderful cures we do for our Cherry Pectoral. We do not claim that it will cure all diseases, but we do claim that it will cure more diseases than any other medicine we know of, and that it will do more good than any other medicine we know of, when it does do good at all. We know it does do good in many cases in which other medicines have been tried without any good effect. We know it does do good in many cases in which it has been tried without any good effect. We know it does do good in many cases in which it has been tried without any good effect. We know it does do good in many cases in which it has
